FIFTH SUNDAY OF EASTER

Acts 6:1-7

BEYOND IMAGINING

It started with an argument about dinner. Three weeks ago we heard the happy story of the blissful teamwork among the early Christians. They loved one another, shared things in common, and their numbers grew. Well, the honeymoon is over. As the numbers increased, so did disagreements. It all started with an argument about dinner.

Greek widows were not getting enough to eat before the food ran out. The Twelve were too busy preaching to manage meals. But they had to have charity at home if they were to preach authentically, so they appointed seven leaders to straighten out the problems with dinner. That is how we first got deacons in the church.

Deacons may have started as table ministers, but they did not end that way. Not long after this story we find them preaching the gospel near and far with all the fervor of the Twelve. The word of God spread because of the work of deacons, but it never would have happened if there had not first been an argument about dinner.

Arguments do not have to lead to anger and broken relationships. They can lead to solutions with better results than anyone ever imagined.

Did You Know?

The Archdiocese of Indianapolis has only had permanent deacons since 2008. Before that we heard about deacons in other denominations, but not in our local Catholic Church.

What exactly are permanent deacons? They are men over the age of 35 who have gone through a period of preparation (about 4 years) and undergo a vetting process similar to that of the priesthood. If a deacon is married, their spouse also goes through some informational sessions and must give her consent for her husband to become a deacon. If the spouse passes away after a deacon is ordained or if he was single, he may not remarry/marry.

What exactly does a deacon do? These men minister much as the first deacons did in providing charitable works to the people of God. Deacons in our deanery are involved in prison and jail ministry, as well as hospital and nursing home ministry. At Mass, deacons are ministers of the Word and Cup. They can preach sermons and would normally be Eucharistic Ministers of the Precious Blood. Deacons can also preside at Baptisms, Marriages and Funeral Services outside of Mass.

What about transitional deacons? Transitional deacons are men on the road to priesthood. Usually in the year prior to their priestly ordination, they are ordained as deacons.

Can permanent deacons become priests? If a single permanent deacon wishes to be considered for priesthood, he would be required to go through training for the priesthood, usually another 4 years. Since many of our deacons are already older, few seek this path.

What are deacons paid? Unless they are otherwise employed in the church, deacons are paid only in the graces they receive from their ministry. That is why most hold other jobs while being deacons.
